=[DT=gbull=[L]=]You didnt answer my question, if you had a gun and he had a gun, would you attempt to dissable him without use of the gun, or would you shoot him? Stop working around the question.

Well, arguements aside, you can't call him against what he said if you change the question without telling anyone.

Original question:

Quote:Its called disabling someone.[b] If someone holds a gun to your head[b], you hit their hand or gun to point in a safe direction then pry the gun off them, dispose of it, or use it against them You don't neccessarily have to shoot them.
