FUCK YOU PROX STEALING MY THUNDER

Anyway, for that cow guy who seems to be having one, why would you get pissed off for someone finding that out? I think it's kinda cool, a little creepy about what it actually says, but that stuff like that happens is pretty cool.

I was reading about it the other day and some website said that if you just start talking for 10 minutes and record it and play it in reverse, every 30 seconds or so you will be able to make something out of it.

What makes people wonder about that song is the fact that it's such a big span of time where you can make out words like that. I found some guy who has the entire lyric in reverse, and if you listen to it and follow along it's like "holy shit." I found it really interesting, whether or not it was intended, which I highly doubt it was.

Anyway, he wasn't trying to take away from the song, it's still THE greatest rock song in my opinion, he was just pointing something out. Don't have a cow, misfit. Good day.
