Tankclash, Thanks for the advice. I downloaded VirtualDub, but I haven't had much experience with it. I'll check it out.

And flyingfox, if you play around in the FanMaps servers for a while and get to know the clan members, you'll know why it's such an attractive clan. They're great guys who are all about having fun, even though a lot of them are really good at Ren. I wouldn't say it's not a competitive atmosphere, but it's not like clans who are overcompetitive and get too emotional about things.
:rolleyes:

Oh, and the obelisk gun is only in their CTF server. Notice I called it "retarded". I'm against it, too. Another feature of the CTF server is that they augmented the jump height for a few characters. It's pretty sweet. (notice at the end of the ob gun segment, there's a SBH that's hopping 15 feet into the air ) Hopefully some day they'll change the server mod around a bit.

About the stealth medium, you can get a crate that makes the next vehicle you go into stealth. The chances of a crate being that are very, very slim. And the chances of a crate being a god crate are like one in a million. That's why I recorded the whole session of me being in god mode. It just makes the game more fun. I wouldn't recommend ONLY playing in those servers, because then it messes you up when you try to play in a real server.
