I have a problem... Here's the story.

I've had some suspicions about my girlfriend cheating on me for a couple of weeks now. We were supposed to meet up at my place today. Her dad was supposed to drop her off, but I saw a car pull up right around the corner. I knew it was her, but that wasn't her dad's car. So I went outside to take a closer look. I crouched down behind a bush to look into the car. She was standing outside the car talking to someone inside.

It was still dark, so I still couldn't tell who it was at this point, but I don't think it was her dad. Anyway, I looked down at my shoes for a second and they were pretty beat up. They had some dried mud on the sides. They were white shoes, so the mud really showed up. You could see where the leather had worn out.

So I need help... What kind of shoes should I get?
