I hate to break the news to you, my friend, but it's not just the Renegade community. I've run a lot of communities in the past (I'll give you proof if you want it), and I've been to a lot of communities. Trust me, all online communities are like this. You have to just take anything anyone says, and accept the fact that there's nothing you can do about it.

If you were more serious about taking legal action, then maybe you shouldn't have posted about it on a public forum. Now you know that with every post you make on a forum, someone will always be the opposition, and arguing with them will achieve nothing.

Anyone else on this forum can type just as fast as you can.

EDIT: By the way, coming on the forum and calling everyone fuckers and complaining about someone bashing your work will not make a community change. It just adds to the hate.
