PiMuRhol think this entire debacle just serves to highlight how childish, petty and small-minded the vast majority of this community is.

Agreed completely. This is by far the most stupid and degrading thing I have ever seen come from both parties.

Jupiter, you are a horrible person for commending the person who took those private files from Reborn and posting them to the public just to laugh and make fun of them.

Renardin, you aren't going to get a lawsuit out of someone taking some files and saying your work sucks. The judge will no sooner throw the case out of court, pending if you even get that far with it.

For crying out loud, when are you people going to grow up and start working together.
