It is still Reborn. I don't have a few internal files. I have all of your GDI vehicles. I have all of your GDI structures, none have any interior to them. I have all of your GDI and Nod infantry, plus the "mutants" as well.

You really just don't get it do you? If you have a private section, why the FUCK would you ask them something that should be private? Do you like looking as if you're a complete fool? Do you think it's okay for company workers to talk about internal problems in public, or ask things from the executives to a newspaper instead of through the company?

And if you don't realize what problems come from issuing a beta, remember that old "Recon warz" thing you made? I shouldn't need to say anything more.
