

---

Subject: For those who think Renegade "sucks"
Posted by Jzinsky on Tue, 08 Mar 2005 14:00:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Strangely enough, seeing as I learnt to type in school and not on chatrooms, I can type utilising full spelling and grammar. It's not just because I'm clever, it's also through habit. You type like that and send it to an employer and they'd be tempted to phone you up just to ask if you're taking the piss. Believe me I did it, they dragged me into an interview to ask if I was having a laugh. I was. I got the job...

Go figure.

Personally I disagree also with the use of numbers instead of letters. It's ok in the use of names, for example M1ke, but not in regular speech. That should be the sole reserve of a-holes who want their car registration to say e.g. Mr Singh (MR 51 NGH)

That one actually exists, go check it.

---