Can you all explain something to me? Why do some ppl start bitching about small and simple spelling or grammar mistakes?

I mean who gives a f*** if AlienWorkShop misspelled appreciated and spelled it >>> "apprecheated" all it does is has an extra h and e instead of i and just by reading "Any help towards this would be greatly" i could already know what the next word should be....

This is not an English class I'm sure you all understood what he meant, there is no need to point out mistakes.

6 out of 8 replies are about spelling only 2 are actually trying to help....
