Thanks for the advice. I plan to upgrade my computer completely in 2006, so that works out well.

One more question before you go... as long as the other stick has the exact same stats as the other, but is a different company, it'll still work fine in dual channel mode? For example:

1x 512mb PC2700 SimpleTech and 1x 512mb PC2700 Corsair

Even though they're both different manufactures, would they still work together in dual channel mode?
