deadfive-

Hey man I don't "hate" your website & I apologize for LOL'n at your first post. It's just that you started out "check out the awesome website" etc &

I was really expecting something more. It was somewhat of a letdown & I knew the critical replies were forthcoming.

For a novice designer & new website, I suppose it's not too bad. But you must realize this forum is probably the WORST place to come "show off" your new work. For the most part, this is a very talented but critical group who will not withhold any negative comments. Brush off the criticism & take their advice - you will ultimately make a website worthy of their discriminating taste. You just have a good ways to go Hang in dude!
