j_ball430She's not a fucking vegetable. She smiles, and she responds to movement. That's not what I call being brain dead. I honestly think that she has more activity in her brain than most liberals do, and they're not considered brain dead (Yes, I know it's rhetoric, but I felt that this was a perfect time to insert it no matter how incorrect it may be, so fuck off anybody who wants to bitch at me for this comment).

LOL, I never said she was a vegetable.

I can tell you've made that statement based on the overplayed clip of her "reacting" to her surroundings...

The husband has a girlfriend with two kids from that girlfriend, he just wants his wife to be out of the way, collect the money from her death, and then live happily ever after with his girlfriend. Sure, he hasn't come out and said that, but who can deny that being a motive?

How exactly has she been in his way?

Remember, 20 Courts agreed with the man.

The only reason why they're unplugging her in the first place is because euthanasia on human beings is illegal.
