RebornSo am I right in saying that the clients FPS can never be higher than that of the SFPS?

I know that it can display that you have a FPS of say 70, but I was told that althou it displays this, it actually can't be higher than the SFPS.

I ran my renegade windowed mode two days ago, and it told me I had an FPS of over 200 (i have a 9800xt ) but didnt really seem to have much difference then when i have 60 FPS.

To a human eye, there's not much difference between 60 FPS and 200 FPS. I belive the client FPS is independent of the SFPS.
