Flaming like that is a normal part of the internet (interweb).
Here's an example of flaming that was directed towards me:

<Story with a moral posted>

Me: Where's the punchline?

Author: the punchline is that you're a raging fag that takes it from both man and beast. Funny enough for you?

You gotta let things like that roll off your back. If people flame you, and don't like you a lot it was because you posted a hundred threads about your website.
