

---

Subject: OT: Tomorrow's Net Speeds

Posted by splnwezel on Fri, 22 Apr 2005 03:13:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Well... I think a lot of companies are on their way to phasing out 56K. In my town, is almost impossible not to get low cable speeds - it's actually easier to get cable than it is to look for 56K. And even my family farm has some sort of weird connection where they have a DSL tower and it shares a link with like 6 different farms.

---