
Subject: why people dont respect alot of clans.

Posted by $c0p3 on Sun, 08 May 2005 15:54:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, jschultz9, I'm glad you took the time to post here as well, as if we really cared about it on our forums or something, but that's cool. I'm glad you think you're the shit because you got a potential cheater out of your server, but that's only going to bore you, you'll have 1 less person to look after with your super admin powers. You can ban my whole clan from your crappy server, nobody cares, there's only 1, maybe 2 people that play(ed) on that server before, so keep it up. I don't understand why you're making such a big deal out of nothing if the guy actually apologized to you, but whatever. I'm glad you still care about your server. Maybe you should stop wasting your administrating your server and kicking most people for disagreeing with your stupidity and make this game a little better by getting better at it. Nobody gives a shit for public servers, except for maybe the nobodies and Spooky so you can quit wasting your's and everybody else's time on posts like these, because the people here with brains already know what public server moderators are like. If s2 had cheated in a clan war, where there's actually a point in playing, and the skill level probably tripples the skill level in your server, we maybe would have done something about it. You can call us cheaters all you like now, we don't give a shit. We know we don't need to cheat against n00bs like you to be better, and he only did it our of boredom, because people like you make this game even more boring than what it is now by presenting little or no challenge to anyone at all.

You can keep arguing but, think about this for a moment. I once cheated in a public server, just once, and am I known as a cheater? No, because I did it once, and only once just to see what it was like. Maybe that's what s2 was doing? Wr$ has cheated in public servers too, and you don't see people calling him a cheater, and same goes for Adam and many, many others, so call the LoD clan, or s2 a cheater all you want, but s2 can own your ass any day of the week whether he's banned from your n00b server or not.

BTW, Iron Fart, please try not to use the word 'n00b' to describe me, because we both very well know that you're one of GameSpy's worst, and I own you, thx
