You are precisely crying. To sum up your entire post, all I have to say is, "waah... waah wah wah.. wah wah wah.....and wah"

If you get an average of 100 FPS and you're complaining about being force rg'ed because you aren't running renguard (which I can only assume wouldn't be even close to bring down the fps to 10, which I had) Then you are a big cry baby whose only purpose is to cry. The only point you make in your "argument", and i use the term loosely of course - because I couldn't even call anything you say supportive to what you said, is that when a person forceRGs people follow. When I see this in game, i usually think, "what's the deal with them not running renguard when it does nothing to harm"

Here are your choices, baby.

Your first choice is to suck it up like a big kid now and either 1.) Get Renguard and deal with 90+ FPS (Oh no!), or you can NOT get renguard, and have the average 100 FPS you get and you can live your life in happiness, free from people who wish to play a game without cheaters in their server, thus making both sides happy.

I would recommend the second choice.
