I know the download speed is not great but i will be updating it a lot more often soon. So having to send it to someone everytime will only take longer.

Once i have a final version it would be ok though.

Quote:I have some idea's for the models though, you could ask the SS crew if you could use some of their models, like the SSM.

I won't get them.

And if i did it would be cheap to use models from another mod.

And about the vehicle textures, i don't think they need to be edited. They look fine except for some minor details. So adding new textures for all vehicles that only change a few things would be a waste of space and download times, ect...

Maybe i'll try and use some E3 models if i get them to work.

Oh and before i forget, i still haven't been able to test it online with more then 1 player yet so i will need some help there too.
