Subject: My opinion about Renguard.
Posted by Lijitsu on Sat, 14 May 2005 18:01:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

AircraftkillerIt's probably the age group, 90% of people on this forum are younger than 18 and have the mental capacity of a 12 year old if even that. Thats a tad mean, aint it? I mean, sure, most people are dumbasses, but do you have to be so blunt about it? ...I dont really care, just wonderin. Also, very neat Signature. I have a very slight problem with Renguard, but it has nothing to do with the whole 1 maybe 2 points of FPS it drains. When i run Blazer's Sound Rotation Mod, and Renguard, Renguard has an error allocating memory, and shuts off. Now, normally, because im one of the worst Renegade players out there, i dont get hit with !forcerg, but, i do occasionally get a few good shots in on people, and i think i was hit with !forcerg the three times it takes, back before i had Renguard on the Unrules New Maps server, which is the main one i play. Im sure the only remedy is to not run Blazer's Sound Rotation Mod, but if anyone has any info that might help even slightly, please do tell. And, to that guy that said that DeadFive had a horrible Video Card... Guess what? Ive got a much worse one, and it runs Renegade very well, despite the fact that the visuals are turned to about low-mid. Ive also run it on an ATI Radeon 7000 before, which is barely good enough to run Warcraft III, much less a First/Third Person Shooter, with graphics like Renegade's. Also, im going to repeat this question, since i posted it, and it was apperantly looked over: Do i have to notify Blazer or Crimson if i want to upload a custom Avatar Picture? Because it said so in the Rules/Welcome thread...