XP Home is a limited version of XP pro.
Both retail versions have activation.

The major differences between home and pro is:

Better security (NTFS)

Better network support

Better support for windows 2k and co

Better for the power user

THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE IN MEMORY MANAGEMENT BETWEEN XP HOME AND XP PRO

I would NOT suggest XP home, its limited. Personally, go for XP pro CORP edition - it doesn't require activation but you either need a 'downloaded' or a official copy (they don't sell it retail) - I got my copy from work....
