Then again, one could say the same for A Path Beyond or RenAlert...

I personally wasn't a fan of RenAlert, because the Gameplay didn't really appeal to me too well when I played it, and of course, some of the Dev team aren't on my favourites list...

I don't plan on playing A Path Beyond either, since I probably won't get Battlefield 2.

I did enjoy playing the first beta of Reborn, although the bugs were annoying. The General gameplay was good, even though there were big balance issues and map bugs/exploits. I do look forward to the next beta, and I hope the team manage to do well with the gameplay, as I think that it's not just how the units look, it's mostly the gameplay since that's the biggest part of the game, in my opinion.
