One of them was an ASUS and another one was a Gigabyte, both were supposed to be able to support ATI 9600's, but the ATI card just didn't want to, constantly giving off odd errors. Even ATI tech support admitted that it seems like a problem with the card itself.

So what was my 9600? A defective card, joy. I haven't had any problems with Nvidia.

But...since YOU said I got myself a shitty motherboard, you must be right and I must wrong!
