

---

Subject: Do You Think Fighting For President Bush Is Worth Your Life?

Posted by cheesesoda on Tue, 24 May 2005 20:49:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

How the fuck do you get money from a war? If I'm not mistaken, wars COST money. If we were greedy, we'd just export to other nations, refuse to import, and keep ourselves locked into an Isolationistic way of life. Obviously, this isn't the case.

Sure, there's always something to gain. We're expanding the free world. Giving more people the ability to have the freedoms that we have. How would you like to disagree with your government, and then be put to death because even one of your own family members snitched on you? I'm sure you would just love that. :rolleyes:

Where else would we go to get Osama? Oh yes, let's hunt down Osama in China! He's obviously not in Afghanistan where we originally thought. :rolleyes:

---