
Subject: Do You Think Fighting For President Bush Is Worth Your Life?

Posted by glyde51 on Wed, 25 May 2005 12:42:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

gbullSFEIf it were the "War on terrorism", you could use that justification to attack any Asian country. Why Iraq?

Because these people had more direct contact with those who committed the act. What was it again? $25,000 if you kill yourself for Allah? Fact is: Iraq embraced terrorists in its own country instead of at least making it look as if they were taking some sort of action to prevent them. You keep making us remind you of why we went to Iraq when its painfully aparent:

1.) Find Weapons of Mass Destruction - STILL PENDING

- There is alot of Desert out there. Also In the time it took the United States to mobilize they could have been moved to Syria.

2.)They Supported Terrorists

- If you don't see the facts between the former Iraqi government and their terrorist ties, then you are too stubborn to see the truth as of now.

3.) Liberate the Iraqi people

- Some say they don't want to be liberated. Man, they must really like being murdered, raped, and thrown into mass graves then.

1) Find Osama - STILL PENDING

-Find the man that killed many innocent Americans using the amazingly few soldiers in Iraq!

:rolleyes:
