rm5248Well.... There is this gian island off of the coast of Africa that's falling apart... When part of this island breaks off sometime in the near future, a giant tidal wave will be created.

I heard about a volcano on one of the Canary Islands that when it blows, a nice chunk of it will drop straight into the ocean, creating a giant tidal wave. (Off the coast of Africa, so idk if it's the same thing you're talkin bout, but ya)

I guess I watch too much Discovery Channel and History Channel though.
