Renardin, normally I'm pretty easy going but don't commit dumbassery. I don't use 800x600 because I can't afford a higher resolution. I use 800x600 because the text is easy to read, everything runs faster, and I am not tempted to put 900 icons on my desktop. 800x600 desktops are for work. 1600x1200 desktops are for Hoity Toity Frilly Cold Stone visiting iPod using yuppies. If Windows XP would allow it, I'd use 640x480.
