Yeah, put an option in to choose between having the user info on the side, or on the top of a post.

Can you have the topic review below the reply area, show the posts in newest to oldest like it's supposed to.

Have all of the smilies show up instead of just some and having to go to a popup to see the rest. It would take an extra line to have all of them there, but it won't take up any extra room, if you take the message icons and place them all on one line next to "no icon", there should be plenty of room on that line.

Up the maximum files per message to 5 instead of 1, so people won't have to post several replies if they have more than 1 image to post.
