

---

Subject: Re: Do You Think Fighting For President Bush Is Worth Your Life?

Posted by kinghigh1 on Sun, 12 Jun 2005 20:19:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

U927 wrote on Fri, 10 June 2005 15:26 Wait, let me get your logic.

Saddam gasses the Kurds.

Kurds are pissed at Saddam.

We get rid of Saddam.

Kurds are pissed at us because we got rid of Saddam?

Wrong. The ones fighting our troops are called insurgents.

in·sur·gent (n-sûrjnt)

adj.

1. Rising in revolt against established authority, especially a government.
2. Rebelling against the leadership of a political party.

They oppose the new Iraqi government, which is actually going to try Saddam in court for crimes against humanity. Now, why would the ones who we being killed by Saddam suddenly want to be ruled by him again?

As for your explanation about the oil prices: Grow the fuck up. There isn't a big conspiracy to keep the oil prices high, then suddenly lower them from the gas we got in Iraq. Plus, it has been three years since we toppled Saddam. If we went in for oil, why haven't there been any news stories about oil investors going to Iraq? Surely they are big targets for the insurgents.

If you are going to make an argument, back it up with actual evidence. Because all you are posting here is a shit-faced opinion that nobody believes.

Why can't the Iraqis fight for their own freedom now? saddam gone.

Is it me or do it just look like our troops the only ones fighting for the Iraqis freedom? answer that!

I can post all the shit-faced opinions I want, besides that's what makes forums interesting, check how deep the thread getting

---