19, you little twit.

I want to protect them from idiots like you, not necessarily hot heads like the moron who got banned.

Stryder and xptek are the main ones who set up the servers.

If someone calls me a cancer, I won't get offensive and kick/ban them... I'll just insult them back. If someone tells me to get cancer, I might take a little more offense, but I wouldn't ban... for very long.

I know all too well about people having different opinions. I'm not the one getting all worked up about some random person's opinion about the way I run my server(s).

The game is rated "Teen" which is actually 13. Kids as young as 20 months (yes... < 2 years old... though rare) are saying the word "fuck". I started swearing in 4th grade at the age of 10, so I honestly don't see what the problem is. Most kids probably start swearing by the age of 12, anyways, if not younger. Not to mention Renegade is a "violent" game, so I don't see how some random idiot's language is going to change anything.

I don't need to be a part of a community to have friends... idiot.

Shut the fuck up or actually act mature, either one's fine by me.