Quote:I find it very hard to find girls i can stand. I am either out of date, or very picky. For instance- Brandy would be at home, and instead of calling me on the Land Line, she would call me from her cell phone. Big deal right? Well yeah, we live in north carolina, cell phones dont work here! (mountains)

Then while we would go places, like say a movie, she would be playing cell phone games with the volume on in the theater! I would take here home and she would call me on the land line and all i can hear is the ding and chirps coming from her cell phone as we are talking on the phone. God Damn i hate that phone.

Because of her i will never:

1. Goto a mall ever again.
2. Date someone with a cell phone.

Though i am changed by her. Women just have a way, and i thank her for that.

My ex-ex (counting in semi-serious relationship intervals that is) used to call me every five minutes or so, it got annoying as hell. We'd come home from chilling a whole day and she'd call me five or so minutes after I got home, it's crazy. No time to relax. Before I dumped her, phone combersations went something like this:

Her: HI BABI

Me playing SWG: Can't right now, busy. click

And that was pretty much about it. I really have a hard time finding a girl I can stand too. But shit, I got bad luck. I found one on saturday, 8 days away from being gone forever.
