Someone did, in fact, request that he be banned in private message. I am letting you all make the decision instead of my doing it dictator-style. Personally, I think he's just the latest trend sent here to annoy us and he'll either go away or turn into a more normal poster within a couple weeks.

I knew already that someone would draw the parallel between ACK and kinghigh1. What you may forget, however, is that the server owners did successfully vote nopic out of the server owners' forum. ACK, however, HAS contributed to the community as a whole and will continue to be given special consideration for that. If you all think that I just let him get away with whatever he wants, then you're sadly, sadly mistaken. You haven't seen much "reborn sucks" in here lately, now have you? I have also removed his moderator access in the Mod Forum at your insistence. Let's not lose perspective here. You, as a community member, need to decide and cast your vote as to whether or not you feel kinghigh1 is welcome here.
