So there's more important things to do than Renardin fixing the texture and adding in some dirt/mud/etc to the feet...

YET!

Renardin currently is not doing anything and is waiting for other people to do other things that don't even rhyme with texture.

Result: No reason not to fix up the Mk2, and no reason not to give the ghostalker tanglier, browner hair that looks like he hasn't been to a salon and has been creeping around through tibrium wastelands and crawling along through fields.
