
Subject: Re: Terrorism Resolved

Posted by Buavey on Thu, 28 Jul 2005 14:25:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Goztow wrote on Wed, 27 July 2005 02:19: Geneva convention is just bullsh*t, tbh. It are rules that count until someone breaks them. Then there's no way of enforcing those rules, and surely not without breaking them yourselves...

Shooting the poor bastard that surrendered isn't half as bad as shooting thousands of innocent citizens, but both happen. Hence not a war crime, just a part of war.

Bullshit to some extent. Their are pros and cons to the Geneva Convention. If you think about it, it ended up turning WAR into a game with all its rules. WAR IS WAR People. People die in it and in some of the most cruelest way. The treaty trys to clean up the use of cruel and bloody tactics but it doesnt garuantee bullshit! The Convention Only applies to the countries that have signed the treaty, so it doesnt matter really!

Intresting Article btw!
