Most of my kills on SBH's and STanks are when I'm scanning for impacts with my guns... that's the only really good way to find them in most cases.

Now if you "just happened" to headshot him with a n00bjet four times in a row, that would be reason to believe that you had a stealth skin... but sweeping around with a machine gun is a fairly common tactic. Especially with Orca pilots, since they have no pause for reload.
