Did I perhaps strike a vounerable chord?

Quote:Do not blame me for selling these, blame the people that did exploit the WOL serial server.'kay. It's all those peoples faults you're selling something in your possession that's already free to those willing to wait. It's all their fault you're charging a ridiculous amount for something as unimportant as this. It's all their fault you don't feel like being patient and scraping together a video card fund through what meager amount of money you might get from your day job.(Which, by the way? Don't quit it anytime soon. 'kay?)

Quote:If I had 1000, I would be giving them away, but because I dont have any, and I cannot get more, It's kind of hard just to give away, when I could need them.Considering you're eagerly awaiting $25.00 for each of your "four serial numbers" so you can get a new video card, I sincerely doubt you "could need them" any time soon. Have you looked at dedicated server prices lately? ;3

Nope. You're just a greedy bugger who likes to prey on the inept and impatient. And hey! If it works, then more power too ya. Truly! It all comes down to philosophy:
"Who is the bigger fool? The fool who leads? Or the fool who blindly follows the first fool?"
