Subject: Re: Heads up for ATI Radeon 9200SE users.
Posted by JPNOD on Wed, 31 Aug 2005 19:39:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yea EA does suck, seeing a old Ti 4200 is just as fast as alot of card's in that anyway. Also talking about stable game engine's. I've heard many problems on other forums on running bf2 even with a high comp. You will need great cooling and a uber good card. And a good set of drivers or it will just crash from time to time. Renegade isn't much far from that but just pointing out Renegade isn't the only buggy engine. I still think the engine UT uses, and Hl2/d00m 3 are best. You can even run that typ of games on SLOW pc's with slow card's or just uber fucking great gfx like bf2 but ofcourse you need a good comp then. Renegade isn't that bad in a way either seeing that I was able to run Renegade with 8mb onboard memmory and Intel i815 chip for 9 hours long till it would actually reboot. (fps 5-25)