Also if you are going to charge people money to use regulator bots, you better consult with thier authors first. Many of these items under GPL will not allow you to make a profit of thier work.

Perhaps you can make a deal with them and pay them to use thier bots commercially.

Of course permission will be requested and royalties will be returned to the proper owner.

This is why I am asking here. Its a lot of work making a module so I want to see if it would be worth my time.
