If I can find pictures of my summer camp, I can probably show you tents with wood, stone, and concrete bases. And big, green tents like you see in RedAlert.

Actually, the state beach I camped at for years had cement pads in each site too, but that's kinda different. Still worth mentioning.

(By the way, if anybody has some real 'balancing issues' that concern them .. such as if we had a unit that could fly around and with one shot kill all infantry in a building.. let me know)
