so i on friday i posted a in a topic about how renguard has allowed cheaters to get away with using hacks. then i get banned by crimson because i said she was wrong. in no way shape or form did i disobey any rules of the site (show me where it says i cant state my opinion in the rules section). then she removes my post. and tell me when has BS been a reason to ban someone, even temporarily, without a warning first. this confuses me. im sure that people with banning rights are given the rule "warn first, ban second". as it is also in most servers. well if crimson expects an apology for me saying she was wrong, then o well. i dont apologize for things that are true. crimson, do some reseach about the amount of cheaters banned while using renguard. youll see its a bit more than "10".
