

---

Subject: Re: Open Appeal to Adad from Blackhand Studios

Posted by Chronojam on Thu, 15 Sep 2005 20:44:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You know what? This guy is actually worse than EA. Shocking, I know.

To get the serials from EA, all you had to do was hope the server was up, as it was 90% of the time.

I bet he sleeps maybe 1/4th the day, so that cuts it down to 75% of the day where he's capable of being online. That's not counting times where he's eating, working, playing, etc.

EA never made you track down what server and channel they were on on some obscure IRC network.

EA never made you have to register on a forum to try to get a serial.

EA never made you have to pass this mystery "do we like you" test that's got no standards at all.

EA never made you come to the point of offering cash for a free thing.

EA never went to shady sites.

EA never stole all remaining freebies that were for public use for any purpose (I'm surprised they haven't actually).

EA never would turn down cash-for-nothing.

EA showed up for the C&C 10th celebration.

EA actually has convinced many hundreds of people to work for them.

EA actually has a telephone number you can call most hours of the day.

---