Okay, so maybe we should leave thieves and murderers alone to do their business. I mean, after all, they don't see it as being wrong, so how dare we inflict our opinions on them? Shame shame. It is fine for nopic to post things that are fine in his twisted way, he's not hurting anyone. If you are so sensitive that posts on a message board offend you, you shouldn't be on the internet. These rules don't apply to thieves and murderers because those things actually hurt someone/something. Words do not, so you and anyone else shouldn't worry about it.

Sure, we could let the mods do their jobs, but you haven't been here long enough to realize that unless topics are expanded at great lengths, the thread usually stays open no matter how ridiculous it may become. Sure, there are exceptions, but not that many. Whether the mods choose to close them or not, that is their option and their decision. It's not up to you and the other E-Terrorists to take it upon themselves, embarrassing everyone involved.

I'm the arrogant one because I don't need your approval? Sure...

Anyone who thinks that they should be in charge of censoring other people's posts because they want to judge everyone and everything by their own morals is just being ethnocentric, which is being arrogant. I however, try to let people do what they do, as long as they don't try to get all judgemental on someone else because they think they are the moral right.
