When it says "You need to enter your current password," it's not telling you to log back in. It's saying you need to enter your password on that page. Specifically, you need to type it up where it says "Your Password:" under "Login:", which is just under "All fields are required. Please note that passwords are case sensitive.", which is under "Required Information" at the top of the User CP -> Settings page.

Also, your signature is needlessly enormous. Might I suggest something around the size of 468 x 60?
