
Subject: Plasma Propulsion

Posted by Blazer on Mon, 17 Oct 2005 10:21:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

http://babelfish.altavista.com/babelfish/trurl_pagecontent?url=http://diepresse.at/Artikel.aspx?channel=h&ressort=ws &id=512951&lp=de_en websiteNow there is for the first time a technical conversion of the "Alfven waves", which could introduce "a new era in the area of the propulsion technologies in the universe"...the technology is ten times a higher flow-out rate, which otherwise only by a nuclear fusion engine - which (still) does not exist - is attainable. The measurements were accomplished on the basis a prototype in a vacuum chamber
