

---

Subject: Re: The : "Doom" movie

Posted by cheesesoda on Sun, 23 Oct 2005 06:39:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I don't know what the fuck you're talking about. I liked the movie quite a bit.

If you're offended by a lot of vulgar language, do not watch this movie at all costs. However, if you don't mind strong language, don't count this movie out just yet.

The beginning's cool. Sure, not a lot of action, but the plot is still building. I'm not going to call a movie bad because they're building the plot. I didn't pay $7.50 to see a movie where the whole plot of the story is played out in the first 30 minutes. There's a couple cool scenes in the beginning.

There isn't endless killing in this movie, so people looking for that will be greatly disappointed. However, there is some gore, and it was enough to satisfy me. The first person shooter was awesome. No, you really didn't feel like you were actually in the movie, but it was still a really cool view.

The ending is cool. Nothing spectacular, but I liked it.

If you're expecting to be scared shitless like you would be while playing Doom 3, you'll be greatly disappointed. DarkDemin and I were expecting the movie to be scary, but it was actually very tame. I saw a couple of younger kids sitting directly in front of us, and I was like, "they're going to regret seeing this movie" (because I figured it'd be a hell of a lot scarier), but it was tame enough for younger kids. That is... if you don't mind those kids being subjected to immense amount of swearing. Personally, I don't like extremely scary movies, but this movie was even fairly tame for me. It certainly wasn't what I expected.

Overall, it's a good movie. It all depends on what your tastes are.

---