The non-existence of God was proved some years ago by Douglas Adams.

And, like a few people around here, I believe in a God (She's a lesbian, if anyone cares), but not in religion. Because no God these so-called religions claim to worship, as Crimson has said, would let them get away with the atrocities that they have committed (Inquisition, anyone?).

God is out there. As is religion.

And religion is WAAAY fucking out there.
