razorblade001 well as long as i can still play online, i really dont care what the server is... but the thing is that XWIS, there is only about 30 people playign 1 game, its hard to find a game to play in.

That's mainly because the actual take over hasn't happened yet. Once XWIS takes over for good, you won't need a connection tool. Some people wouldn't know except for the changed Message of the Day that pops up when you first connect.

Once all the bugs are ironed out, I'm sure it'd be close to how it used to be, or maybe better?

(PS, I currently use the XWIS connection tool to play online, and so far I have had NO problems what so ever joining any servers, and I'm behind a NAT.)
