yes, the range of the soldiers rifle is a great advantage, but if your a good shot with a pistol and take a shotgunner you can take an enemy by surprise as they assume you cant hit them at anything but point blank range with a shotgunner.

about 7 times out of 10 I can get an enemy down to half health or less before they even realise I am shooting their head with my pistol, all because they made the assumption that shotgunner = close range only and so stood still for easier aiming
