I'm sorry. The first impression was met quite a while ago. I don't usually reconsider these things after I know how a person deals with them. So far, I have only seen an annoying child, wasting my time, and the time of others with useless drivel. Good for him, he's made a mod which only he plays, props to him. He can advertise it on the mod forum and take ACK's wrath.

He didn't do this. He spammed it everywhere. That in itself is someone who is grotesquely overconfident, and frankly, thats the best way to get on my bad side.
