nah, it's ok I think he is just learning the rules of etiquette on nonspammy forums.

Though i guess by your response that that is the personality which has been ingrained, but maybe he will better his communication skills for you guys and himself.

I commend you of your honest truth and the way other feel as well. I hope after reading this thread he will see how to act more proper.

He did ask me if I could help him to make you guys see better of him, but I said he would have to do that by himself. Mainly just to cut out the CAPS and spam, he should be alright then. :sly:
