This is why we like to be referred to as a community. It's correct though that competitive games are more fun. Not as in humiliate, insult, ... but as in play together, winning or losing together.

It's a pity that the clans like you describe them give all 'clans' out there a bad name. I know quite a lot that are still the sort of communities like you describe them at the end!

It's all about the magic of persons who have the same ideas coming together to play a game and have fun. It's about the PERSONS really, not even about the games. I don't know why else I would have done a 5 hour trip to a foreign country to meet up with some of these people otherwise.
